Former "Finish Fight" In Oklahoma As Legislators Go To Court

Dry Agents Acquitted By Jury

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Joseph A. Shearer, former Federal prohibition director for Ohio, Fred Counts, former Federal prohibition agent for the Cleveland district, his brother, A. Frank Counts and Samuel A. Hoskins, Columbus attorney, and former chairman of the board of trustees of the Ohio Northern University at Ada, were free today of charges of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition law.

The four defendants, after a trial lasting fourteen days in the Federal court here, were acquitted by a Federal jury late yesterday. The jury returned its verdict of not guilty after having the case for twenty-three hours, nine of which were spent in deliberation. The jurors appeared worn and haggard when they brought in their decision, which Judge D. C. Westenhaver told them "no one has any right to question."

"I regret to say the court is unable to approve the result at which you arrived," Judge Westenhaver continued.

The defendants were indicted last May on two counts, one of which charged conspiracy to obstruct enforcement of the National Prohibition law, and the other conspiracy to defraud the government under that law. More than 100 witnesses had been called.

Coolidge Seeks Light On Ship Tangle

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1923.)

WASHINGTON, September 27.—President Coolidge, today asked Albert D. Lasker, former Chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board, for his advice and judgment as to the best way to handle the Shipping problem. The president sent for the former chairman because of the latter's familiarity with the history of the present system of operation and his close contact with the late President Harding who devoted so much time to informal discussions of the Shipping question with Mr. Lasker.

The Shipping situation at the moment is literally up in the air. The recent opinion of Attorney General Baugherty not only declared illegal the proposed scheme of setting up subsidiary corporations under state laws with the stock to be owned in entirety by the United States government but argued that the shipping board could not delegate its powers to any agencies, thus casting doubt on the legality of the present method by which ships are handled by managing agents.

The opinion of the Attorney General, which is the basis of the present pending the title of ownership of the government fleet to the subsidiary (Continued On Page 11)

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Military activities were extended to a third county in Oklahoma today—Wagoner—as preparations were made in the capital city by members of the house of representatives to institute injunction proceedings in the district court to restrain Governor J. C. Walton from prohibiting the meeting of the lower chamber.

"The fight is over so far as the executive office is concerned," Governor Walton said at noon. He added that when court action was begun by the law makers he probably would not appear or be represented in the action.

Questioned concerning the probability that martial law might be made less stringent, the chief executive said:

"As soon as I am assured that the opposition against the visible government is crushed, it will be ready to lessen the military power."

In the chamber of the supreme court Attorney General George Short, conferred for several hours with attorneys of Sheriff R. D. Sanford, of Tulsa county on quo warranto proceedings which they seek to file for the removal of the military forces from the sheriff's office at Tulsa.

Attorneys preparing the injunction action against Governor Walton declared they were girding for a battle to the federal supreme court on the right of the representatives to convene themselves.

Meanwhile attorneys for the members of the lower house who were dispersed yesterday when they attempted to meet, continued the preparation of a suit to test the governor's authorities to bar the session.

"It was indicated the petition would be ready for filing late in the day."

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The conflict between Governor J. C. Walton and the legislature continued today.

Walton, who is opposed to the legislature's attempt to remove him from office, is expected to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the district court today.

The legislature, on the other hand, is expected to file a petition for a writ of mandamus in the same court today.

The case is expected to be heard by the district court today.

BIG HAUL OF WHISKEY

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—A band of about forty men, some of them masked and armed, bound and gagged the guards at the warehouse of the Philadelphia Distilling Company at Edgington, near here today and escaped with from seven to ten truck loads of whiskey.

This was the second raid on the distillery within a month, a large number of men being driven away the first time after they had bound several guards but before they were able to secure any of the whiskey.

Whiskey valued at $2,500,000 was stored in the warehouse and a legal battle is now in progress in the federal court here over its ownership.

There were three night guards and two engineers in the building when the bandits appeared. Some of them carried saved off shot guns. The five men were handcuffed and assembled in the engine room and held under guard while others of the bandits rolled out barrel after barrel of whiskey to the trucks. How many were taken cannot be determined until an inventory is made.

The guards believe they were held in the engine room for an hour after the trucks left so they could not give the alarm. When the last of the bandits left the handcuffs of one of the men were unlocked when another guard found that the thieves had left a handcuff key behind them.

An alarm was immediately sounded and the police of Bucks county and Philadelphia followed. The state police were also summoned and a systematic search of all roads leading away from Edgington was under way today.

Democrat Wins In Washington Election

SPOKANE, WASH., Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The Fifth Washington District in past elections generally Republican, will send a Democratic congressman to Washington next December. Judge Sam. B. Hill, of Waterville, Democrat, has a lead over State Senator Charles E. Meyers, Republican, of more than 600 votes, according to unofficial returns late last night.

With only 39 precincts carrying a total of fewer than 500 votes out, and absentee votes estimated at not more than 250 yet to be counted, political observers expect official returns to give Judge Hill a majority of over 500.

Italy was blamed for the tight vote, only about 42 per cent of the registered voters appearing at the polls. The successful candidate will fill only the unexpired term of Stanley Webster, who resigned to become a federal judge. The term will expire in March, 1925, and political leaders are already planning for a lively campaign at that time.

SOFIA, BULGARIA, Sept. 27.—(By the A. P.)—The decisive battle in the Communist uprising is being fought in the city of Vardana and the village of Berkovitsa, which are four miles apart and half way from Sofia to the Danube, according to a statement issued by the war office. Five thousand Communist and agrarian allies are besieged there, after having proclaimed a Soviet republic and established complete control over the area.

Thousands of soldiers, aided by civilian volunteers, have been carrying out an enveloping operation during the past five days and have now drawn their lines completely around Ferdinand and Berkovitsa. The rebels are armed with Soviet Russian rifles and machine guns.

The troops and volunteers are pushing the encircling movement. The final phase of the operation was begun today. The orders of the commander are to capture, if possible, the entire 5,000 rebels and bring them to trial, in order to secure full details of the direct connection which Moscow has with the uprising.

Ruhr Miners On A Strike

DUESSELDORF, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The miners in the Gelsenkirchen, Recklinghausen and Wanne District, in the heart of the Ruhr mine fields, declared a general strike today as the first action in protest against the Berlin government's decision to give up passive resistance and also against the exploitation of the district by the French. It is estimated that six thousand miners had quit work up to noon, with thousands of others expected to follow.

The report on the miner's action received at French headquarters here, caused some alarm, as it was feared the strike might be followed by general rioting, necessitating severe repressive measures. The French report says the movement was prompted purely by the communist factions which have mustered an unusually large following.

Aside from this movement of the miners, the population of the occupied territory is apparently calm, taking the Berlin decision philosophically. As evidence there is cited an offer by the director of the Duesseldorf branch of the Reichsbank today to furnish for the expense of the army of occupation a sufficient number of marks to equal 15,000 francs daily. The French also announced the resumption of the telegraph and telephone services at Mynance.

The authorities of occupation in the Ruhr, however, are said to be prepared to meet any emergency which may arise as a consequence of today's proclamation in Berlin. The extreme measures resorted to are regarded as partly in response to the action of the Bavarians in setting up a dictatorship and in any case as solely related to the requirements of interior politics, entirely independent in the foreign situation.

Neither President Ebert's proclamation announcing abandonment of the resistance in the Ruhr nor today's action in giving control over to the military authorities is considered changing the situation so far as concerns the allies.

The allies will wait for events to take a decisive turn without intervening unless action by the troops of occupation in the Rhineland and the Ruhr is necessary to prevent grave disturbances there.

It was said in official circles that it had been fully expected that the Germans would move in some direction to make their capitalization in the Ruhr "irreversible."

UNUSUAL PEOPLE Marbles Draw Boys to Books

ANASS CITY, MO., Sept. 27.—When Purd B. Wright, head of Kansas City's public library, decided recently to get more boy readers, he turned to marbles as the means.

How he "sold" the library to boys is told by him.

"I have a boy problem," he said. "The biggest issue I have is how to get many an institution," he said. "How can we interest and hold the boy, is the question."

"First, I figured I must find what boys are most interested in. I went back to my own boyhood and one of its pastimes—marbles."

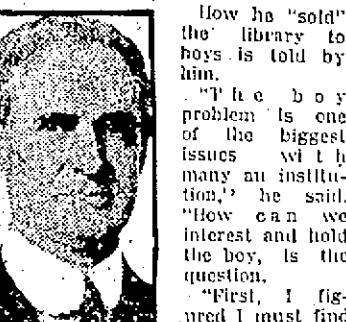

"I prepared a list of library books on how marbles are made, how the game is played in other countries, and so on."

"I called one shelf the 'Aggie' department because there were placed books on agates."

"The boys called me the 'Aggie man' and I was proud of the title."

"When a city marble tournament was organized, I got Mayor Frank H. Campbell to read me a marble game and I read him. That convinced the boys I was interested in marbles and knew what I was doing when I was telling them about the marble books in the library."

"We are holding a large per cent of the marble players as readers of our books as they grow older."

Drastic Action Forced By Bavarian Revolt Threat

Put Ban On Meetings Of Hitler

MUNICH, BAVARIA, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Dr. Von Kahr, the Bavarian military dictator, has prohibited meetings of the followers of Adolf Hitler, the fascist leader, and all other political gatherings. This situation throughout Bavaria is reported quiet.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The German Federal government late today made its second move to offset Bavaria's action in proclaiming limited martial law. Following its first move this morning in declaring a nation-wide state of exception, the reich authorities demanded that Bavaria recall its state of siege proclamation on the ground that the federal proclamation will meet any need of the state. Acceptance of the central government order would mean disposing of the Bavarian dictator, Von Kahr.

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—At a hurriedly called midnight session of the German cabinet attended by General Von Seeckt, the chief of staff, the immediate proclamation of a state of emergency throughout Germany was decided upon and Minister of Defense Gessler was given executive authority to put into force any military or police measures he might deem warranted in the circumstances.

(This action is construed in Paris, London and other quarters as virtually placing Germany in the hands of a military dictator.)

The action of the German government was taken when news of the appointment of Dr. Von Kahr as military dictator of Bavaria, was received and the proclamation issued was intended as an offset to the Bavarian manifesto.

Bavaria's action was wholly unexpected and the government leaders were at first at a loss to account for it. Although it is not viewed as a studied effort to overthrow the central government, the manner in which it was launched nevertheless was construed as a piece of censorial criticism of the way the Berlin government has called off passive resistance in the Ruhr.

This view prevailed despite assertions from Bavaria that her measures were wholly prompted by the suspicious activities of the gangs of Adolf Hitler, the National Socialist leader, and their allied organizations.

Official opinion in Berlin inclines to the belief that Dr. Von Kahr will be fully able to cope with the situation in Bavaria and that the outbreak there is unlikely to extend beyond the Bavarian frontiers, despite the noisy agitation of the factions classed as "super-patriots" whose fighting strength is asserted to be grossly over-estimated.

The Von Kahr government in Bavaria is believed here to be able to rely on the Bavarian police and in an emergency it would also receive the support of the Reichswehr formations stationed in Bavaria.

As a further ally, it is pointed out, the Bavarian government may count on the unwavering support of the Socialists and the trade unions which are in a position to proclaim a general strike. It is also assumed here that Hitler will be unable to stir up any appreciable following from the rural sections into joining the movement.

Great nervousness prevails in Munich and it is generally believed there, according to reports to the Berlin newspapers, that Hitler, leader of the Bavarian "fascist" and favoring the severest of measures against the forces which he commands. If he does so, there are fears in some quarters that the "putsch" would not be confined to Bavaria, and it is unofficially suggested that it was probably with this in mind that President Ebert issued the decree, imposing a state of emergency throughout Germany.

Whether a military dictatorship or even a monarchy shall replace the so-called republic in Germany is considered in many French political circles as a question quite immaterial, as it is still thought in these circles that the great majority of the German people is ready to accept a dictatorship.

In any case recent events are regarded here as wiping out the state all negotiations that have occurred since January 31, when the Ruhr occupation began and as clearing the field for a new start, starting from such time as the Germans are ready to say they want to talk seriously with the allies.

Ward Case Ready To Go To Jury

WHITE PLAINS, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The case of Walter S. Ward on trial for the murder of Clarence Peters, nearly a year and a half ago, is expected to go to the jury tonight or early tomorrow morning.

The defense following the prosecution's sudden resting of its case on Tuesday, closed yesterday without calling a single witness and began summing up.

Issue N. Mills, counsel for the defense, argued that the state had failed completely to offer evidence which warranted the defendant's trial for murder or even for manslaughter.

Mrs. Ward was a pathetic figure when reference was made to her husband by Mr. Mills as a man who had shot a blackmailer in defense of his wife and children. She sobbed as she sat between Ward and his brother Ralph.

Selby Foremen To Attend Training School

A training school for foremen of the Selby Shoe Company is to be conducted for two weeks, beginning October 2nd, and continuing until October 18th. The school will be in charge of T. E. Jones, of Cleveland, who is in the service of the State Board of Vocational Education. Arrangements for the school were made by R. Selby and Charles J. Hauck, of the Selby Company.

Mr. Jones stated that he would conduct conferences for three hours each day with the production foremen, discussing problems of quantity, production and methods of solution, and also job analysis.

Among the topics to be discussed will be the following:—a) rotation of labor turnover; stimulating interest in quantity production; modern methods of hiring men; the place of the foreman in reducing production costs; special emphasis to be placed on the responsibility of the foreman as an instructor in a modern production plant.

In addition to the above work, a group will meet in evenings between 7 and 9 o'clock, at the High School, to prepare for the conduct of conferences in industrial plants. Plant executives are requested to communicate with C. H. Bleckner, in charge of part time education work locally, with a view to enrollment of some of their employees in the evening classes. Following on intensive course it is hoped that some of these students will conduct conferences for foremen in their respective plants.

Training of production foremen is a recent phase of vocational education. This service is free and is intended to stimulate the present industry of part time training in industry.

New Row In League Over Greco-Italian Crisis

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—(By the A. P.)—The Greco-Italian crisis was revived last night with stunning force by Nicholas Politis, former Greek minister of foreign affairs and now representative of his country on the council of the League of Nations.

Assuming from press forecasts that Greece would be obliged to pay Italy the 50,000,000 lire deposited by her as security for indemnity, M. Politis declared that such a decision on the part of the council of ambassadors would be an outrageous injustice and would prove to the world that the big nations of Europe are in complicity to strike a blow at a small and defenseless country.

GENEVA, Sept. 27.—(By the A. P.)—Shortly after Nicholas Politis, Greek representative on the council of the League of Nations, had characterized as an outrageous injustice the report that the Council of Ambassadors had decided that Greece should pay 50,000,000 lire indemnity to Italy in connection with the Janina assassinations, there was another dramatic incident in League of Nations circles. This was during a meeting of the league council, when former Premier Salandra of Italy refused to approve the sending of all questions prepared by jurists concerning the competency of the council of the League of Nations to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Signor Salandra agreed to the submission of the question concerning the competency of the council of a state for a crime committed within its borders, but he insisted that the council of the league itself, and not the International Court should pass upon the direct question of competency. Hjalmar Branting, Sweden, retorted that Italy, having already repudiated the council's competency, it was strange that Signor Salandra now should advocate submitting questions of competency to the council.

The three questions under discussion concerned the proper interpretation of Article 10 to 15 of the covenant, while a fourth question concerned a state's responsibility and a fifth a state's right to take sanctions without consulting the league. Signor Salandra expressed opposition to the fifth question as dragging in the Corfu affair. He added that all questions were too vague.

United States, but the people, like him, seem to overlook the fact that there are limitations in the constitution.

He said that President Coolidge had referred to Commissioner Haines a letter from the secretary of the druggists' association, "offering the friendly offices and experience of the association to the President for his benefit and the benefit of the government who meet with him in October when Federal and state cooperation on the prohibition act will be determined. Ordinarily, he remarked, such a letter would have been referred to the secretary of the treasury or the commissioner of internal revenue."

Scents Political Play.
"If the present incumbent of the White House of any other," he went on, "is going to play politics, and if he has been intimidated, the delegation from Ohio has been promised him his nomination on the pledge that he is going to permit an appointee of the Anti-Saloon League to administer the prohibition law regardless of the limitations of the Federal Constitution, I want to know it. There has been too much lawmaking and law enforcement for political gain on the checkerboard of politics."

"The commissioner has been enforcing what many people are pleased to term 'fanatical prohibition.' I credit the commissioner with sincerity and with honesty and being well meaning and backed by the tremendous sentiment in the

Explain Why Valve Contract Was Awarded To Highest Bidder

In explanation of the awarding of the contract to the Darling Valve & Manufacturing Company, and the rejection of the bid of the Standard Supply Company for Bourdon valves, it is explained on behalf of the City Board of Control, that there are certain standard specifications for valves, these specifications having been adopted by the American Water Works Association as the best and most economical in the long run.

Water works plants everywhere are guided by these specifications in purchasing valves. In the recent contracts, the Darling valves came up to specification, in fact were a bit over. The Bourdon valves, with one exception, were below specifications. They were lighter and the stems were of more liable to breakage.

It was recommended by the city water works manager that the Darling valves be used as they came up to specification, and in the long run would give the best service. Acting upon this, the Board of Control decided the Darling bid the best and most satisfactory. They were accordingly given the contract, on the principle that the low bid in the first instance was not always the cheapest, all things considered.

A full record of the transactions of the Board of Control, together with the recommendations of the water works manager showing why the Darling valve would be the best buy for the city, is on file at the city offices and open to the inspection of any taxpayer.

Pay For Damage

To Three Fenders

Officials of The Leet Lumber Company say they are tired of paying for fenders said to be damaged by their drivers. The company yesterday paid for three fenders on other machines besides the damage done to their own cars. In two cases cars ran into the trucks because the drivers failed to hold out their hand or give a signal to stop. In the other case one of the fleet drivers rammed into another car under the same circumstances. Not desiring an argument they paid for damages in all three cases. They inquired at the police station yesterday if this should be done. They should not have paid the damages in the third case, police say, but were asked to caution their drivers to hold out their hand when stopping.

Anti-Ku Klux Klan Order Makes Debut At Steubenville, O.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 27.—Knights of the Flaming Circles, said to be an anti-Ku Klux Klan order, made its debut here tonight in an elaborate and unusual manner. A terrific blast, apparently the setting off of dynamite sticks, rocked a part of the city, and attracted the attention of the populace to the West Virginia hills directly across the Ohio River. There a great flaming circle was to be seen, with hooded figures walking about the lighted area.

Thousands of citizens rushed to the Ohio side of the river to witness the display. Officials of the order said tonight's demonstration was an initiation of new members. Members of the order, officials said, dress in pure white robes, which are not hooded. On the robes are red circles with a figure of the Statue of Liberty in the center.

Next week is ARCOLA WEEK. Your Heating Contractor will sell his allotment quickly. If you want the comfort of radiator warmth in your home this Winter, ask him today for an ARCOLA estimate.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Bess, Gilbert, Ned Cornet and the latter's fiancée, Lenore, are shipwrecked. They take refuge on an island where they find a man named Doomsdorf, who promptly makes the three his prisoners. He tells them that the only other inhabitant of the island is his Indian wife.

The prisoners are allowed to build a cabin for themselves. Lenore is not inclined to labor so she flatters Doomsdorf and he allows her to remain with the cabin while he drives Bess and Ned until they fall unconscious.

Bess and Ned are given different trapping routes. Together they plan an escape from the island and, through Lenore's treachery, Doomsdorf hears of their arrangements. He follows them out on the ice and forces them back toward his cabin.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

They walked almost in silence, Ned in front, then Bess, their captor bringing up the rear; a strange death march over those frozen seas.

The file trudged on. Ned let the way unguided. The hours passed. The dim shadow of the shore creeps strengthened. And another twilight was laying its first shadows on the snow as they stepped upon the snowy beach.

It was at this point that Bess suddenly experienced an inexplicable quickening of her pulse, an unusual but breathless excitement that was wholly apart from the fact that she was nearing the cabin of her destiny. The air itself seemed curiously hushed, electric, as if a great storm was gathering; the moment was poignant with a breathless suspense. She could not have told why. A moment later, Ned turned to her, ostensibly to help her up the steep slope of the beach. She saw with amazement that his face was stark white and that his eyes glowed like live coals. Yet no message was conveyed to Doomsdorf, tramping behind. It was only her own closeness to him, her love that brought her soul to his, that told her of some far-reaching and terrific crisis that was at hand at last.

"Walk exactly in my steps!" he whispered under his breath. It was only the faintest wisp of sound, no louder than his own breathing; yet Bess caught every word. She did not have to be told that there was infinite urgency behind the command. Her nerves seemed to leap and twitch; yet outwardly there was no visible sign that a message had been passed between them.

Now Ned was leading up toward the shore crags, into a little pass between the rocks that was the natural egress from the beach on to the hills behind. He walked easily one step after another in regular cadence; only his glowing eyes could have told that this instant had, by light or circumstances beyond Bess' ken, become the most crucial in his life.

It was a strange and ironic thing that the knowledge he relied on now, the facility that might turn defeat into victory, was not some device gained in his years of civilized living, no cultural growth from some great university far to the south, but merely one of the basic tricks of a humbler life.

Doomsdorf had told him, once, that a good trapper must learn to mark his sets. Any square yard of territory must be identified, in the mind's eye, that the trapper can return, days later, walk straight to it and know its every detail. Ned Cornet had learned his trade, had stepped lightly into the snow, utterly silent, motionless, for all human eyes could see, their faces white with agony.

Then something sharp and calamitous, as a lightning bolt seemed to strike the pass. There was a loud ring and clang of metal, the sharp crack of a snowshoe frame broken to kindling, and then, obliterating both, a wild howl of human agony like that of a mighty grizzly wounded to the death. Ned and Bess had passed in safety, but Doomsdorf had stepped squarely into the great bear trap that Ned had set the evening before.

The cruel jaws snapped with a clang of iron and the crunch of flesh. The shock, more than any human frame could endure, buried Doomsdorf to his knees, yet so mighty was his physical stamina that he was able to retain his grip on his rifle. And the instant that he went down Ned turned, leaping with savage fury to strike out his hated life before he could rise again.

He was upon him before Doomsdorf could raise his rifle. As he sprang he drew his knife from its sheath, and cut a white path through the gathering dusk. And now their arms went about each other in a final struggle for mastery.

EIN-TOX KILLS

Bed-Bugs

Caught though he was in the trap, Doomsdorf was not beaten yet. He met that attack with incredible power. His great hairy hand caught Ned's arm as it descended, and though he could not hold it, he forced him to drop the blade. With the other he reached for his enemy's throat.

This was the final conflict; yet of such might were these contestants, so terrible the fury of their onslaughts, that both knew at once that the fight was one of seconds. These two might men gave all they had. The fingers clutched and closed at Ned's throat. The right hand of the latter, from which the blade had fallen, tugged at the pistol butt at Doomsdorf's holster.

Bess leaped in, like a she-wolf in defense of her cubs, but one great sweep of Doomsdorf's arm hurled her unconscious in the snow. There was a curious low sound, muffled and full as sounds heard in a dream. And dreams passed over him, like waves over water, as he relaxed at last, breathing in great sobs, in the red-dened drifts.

Bess, emerging into consciousness, crawled slowly toward him. He felt the blessing of her nearing presence even in his half-sleep. But Doomsdorf, their late master, lay curiously inert, his foot still held by the cruel jaws of iron. A great beast-of-prey had fallen in the trap; and the killer-gun had sped a bullet, ranging upward and shattering his wild fingers that clutched his throat.

All this was just a page in Hell Island's history. She had had one dynasty a thousand years before ever Doomsdorf made his first track in her spotless snows; and all that had been done and endured was not more than a ripple in the tides that beat upon her shores. With a new spring she came into her own again. Spring brought the new passages through the snow; and the old island kings returned to rule before ever the mists of the little craft had faded and vanished in the haze.

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, St. Louis, Mo., says: "With my first children I was first a nurse, and then they had to be instructed."

"With my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"My mother and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradford Rycktor Co., P.O. 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores everywhere."

every muscle exerting its full, terrible pressure. Ever Doomsdorf's fingers closed more tightly at Ned's throat; ever Ned's right hand drew slowly at the pistol at Doomsdorf's belt.

Neither the gun nor the strangling fingers would be needed in a moment more. The strain itself would soon shatter and destroy their mortal hearts. The night seemed to be falling before Ned's eyes; his familiar, snowy world was dark with the moving shadow of death. But the pistol was free of the holster now, and he was trying to turn it in his hand.

DOOMSDFR HAD STEPPED SQUARELY INTO THE GREAT BEAR TRAP.

It took all the strength of his remaining consciousness to exert a last, vital ounce of pressure. Then there was a curious low sound, muffled and full as sounds heard in a dream. And dreams passed over him, like waves over water, as he relaxed at last, breathing in great sobs, in the red-dened drifts.

The Intrepid had taken cargo other than the usual tales of furs. The sounds of human voices were no more to be heard in the silence, and the wolf was no longer startled, fear and wonder at his heart, by the sight of a tall living form on the game trail. The traps were moss-covered and lost, and the wind might rage the night through at the cabin window, and no one would hear and no one would be afraid.

The savage powers of the wild held undisputed sway once more, not again to be set at naught by these self-knowing mortals with a law to themselves. Henceforth all law was that of the wild never to be questioned or disobeyed.

Even the squaw had gone on the Intrepid to join her people in a distant tribe. But there is no need to follow her, or the three that had taken ship with her. On the long journey south to spread the word of their rescue, of their halting at the first port to send word and to learn that the occupants of the second lifeboat had been rescued from that island months before, of Godfrey Cornet's glory at the sight of his son's face and the knowledge of the choice he had made, of the light and shadow of their life trails in the cities of men, there is nothing that need be further scrutinized. To Hell Island they were forgotten. The windy snow fields knew them no more.

Yet for all they were bitterly cruel, the wilds and been kind, too. They had shown the gold from the dress. They had revealed to Ned the way of happiness—and it led him straight into Bess' arms. There could rest at the end of his day's toil, there he found not only love and life, but the sustenance of his spirit, the soul of strength by which he might stand erect and face the light.

Thus they had found a safe harbor where the Arctic wind and never chill them; a hearth where such terror as dwelt in the dark outside could not come in.

K. Of P. Meet Closes

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 27.—(By the A. P.)—The fifty-fourth annual session of the Grand Lodge of Ohio Knights of Pythias closed last night with a D. O. K. K. ceremony in Memorial Hall. Members of a large class of candidates were initiated by members of Hamadan Temple No. 60 of Toledo.

Springfield, O., was selected as the next meeting place on the grand lodge at a business session today. E. E. Correll of Bowling Green, was appointed to the post of Grand Keeper of Records and Seals, which was left vacant by the death of William Bentley. This will mean, grand lodge officers say, the removal of headquarters to Bowling Green.

George Hoffmann, Toledo, was defeated in contest for this office. Appointment was made of a commission to provide a suitable memorial, it was suggested, to take the form of a bronze statue of Bentley to be placed on the grounds of the Pythian Home, Springfield. A motion to establish permanent headquarters at Columbus was defeated. This afternoon both Pythians and Pythian Sisters were conducted on an automobile sightseeing tour of the city.

Notice is hereby given that there will be no hunting permitted on my land. Any trespasser will be prosecuted. Mrs. Mary Lamm, Bear Creek.

Mayor Advocates Prison Sentences For Auto Speeders

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Prison sentences at hard labor to solve Chicago's reckless speeding problem are advocated by Mayor Wm. E. Dever, who has rejected the idea of having a special session of the legislature called to pass a bill requiring mental, physical and mechanical tests for motorists.

Automobile killers are not mentally or mechanically deficient, the mayor said. They are deliberately thwarting the laws of speed and sanity and should be dealt with as criminals, he declared.

Saw Noted Prisoner

MOSCOW, Sept. 27.—Senator William H. King of Utah, inspecting the prisons of Moscow, saw Archbishop Zepankin, head of the Russian Catholic Church in Russia, who is serving a 10-year sentence for acts adjudged inimical to the proletarian revolution. The Senator said that the prelate was apparently being well treated and that he was receiving good treatment from the Catholic Mission. Senator King, having recovered from his recent illness, is leaving Moscow today.

Overcomes Stomach Trouble and General Ill Health Very Quickly After Taking Ka-di-ok.

Mr. William J. Paschall, stone-mason, living at 126 Highland Avenue, in relating his experience with Ka-di-ok, says: "For a long time I suffered from stomach trouble; at different times I had water brash, attacks of heartburn, and frequently after eating a lump would seem to form in my stomach and make me feel perfectly miserable. I did not dare to eat any kind of meat and had to avoid eating onions and other vegetables, as it always caused me a lot of distress and pain afterwards. I also was subject to attacks of rheumatism in my arms and shoulders which caused me to fret and worry; it was very nervous and I was generally ill. I commenced taking Ka-di-ok and it helped me the very first week. I have continued taking it and it has benefited me wonderfully. I have a very good appetite now and am eating all kinds of meat and vegetables regularly without being bothered in the least afterwards. Before taking Ka-di-ok I was a nervous wreck and my hands were very shaky and as I might I could not hold them steady. I have now overcome this and feel strong and well in every respect. I am mighty glad I was persuaded to try Ka-di-ok, as I have been doctoring myself for years, but never felt as well as I do today."

Ka-di-ok can be had at Fisher and Strodel's and all other drug stores.—advertisement.

Does Portsmouth Boast A Baby Peggy?

Has Portsmouth a "double" for Baby Peggy of the movies? The Eastland theater would like to find her—or a number of Baby Peggies—and it will offer numerous prize awards to several Portsmouth girls who most closely resemble this famous child star of the silver screen. Now, proud parents, here's your chance! Read this: Baby Peggy, as most theater-goers know, is the cutest and most lovable child in the movies. She is not quite four years old, but she is a full-fledged star, drawing a salary running into four figures a week. Audiences have fawned over her in some of the biggest pictures of recent months, and so now she has been brought out in a whole series of delightful comedies, written especially to display her amazing charms. One of the comedies, called "Taking Orders" will be shown at The Eastland Theatre commencing Oct. 1st. Little Peggy is so clever, cunning and lovable in this picture that the entire country has gone into raptures over her. Out in Los Angeles, where she was discovered by the movie people, the whole town expands its chest and has to wear a large "hat" when it talks about her. Los Angeles loudly proclaims that Baby Peggy has all other children in the country backed off the boards. Now, The Eastland admits that Baby Peggy is a wonder, but it doesn't think she "got that way" just from living in Los Angeles. It thinks that Los Angeles was just lucky in happening to find such a child. The Eastland thinks there are just as cute, lovable and possibly as clever children in Portsmouth and vicinity. To prove its contention, it wants to find them, hence, the Eastland "Baby Peggy" Contest. All Portsmouth children who look like her are month children who enter this contest up to the age of seven years. It doesn't make any difference what their names are; they don't have to be named Peggy. All that is necessary is that they look like Peggy of the movies—which means pretty, bright and exceedingly lovable. Of course, mothers, the more your little girl is dressed like Peggy dresses in the pictures, the better chance she stands of being chosen. At 8 o'clock Tuesday, October 2, all the "Baby Peggies" of Portsmouth are requested to come to The Eastland Theatre. There will be a big reception for the youngsters and their mothers. Bring your youngsters made up in Baby Peggy costumes if possible, but bring them anyway. Let's see them! A committee of prominent citizens will select from the contestants the ones they think most closely resemble Baby Peggy.

The Eastland will distribute the prizes: First prize $15.00; second prize $10.00; third prize $5.00; fourth prize the Baby Peggy Doll, donated by Louis Amberg and Sons. The attached coupon, properly filled out, will admit one little Baby Peggy and her mother to The Eastland Theatre on Tuesday, October 2 at 8 p. m.

Does Your Baby Look Like "BABY PEGGY"?

Explains Progressive Policy Of Loose Gravel Roads

COLUMBUS, Sept. 27.—To clear up what is termed a "misunderstanding" of the policy of progressive construction of loose gravel or stone roads in Ohio, Director of Highways Benly last night issued a statement declaring that the inexpensive types are being built only where they are justified by traffic requirements and the inability of certain counties to finance continuous mileage of more permanent roads. Such roads will be utilized in the future construction of the more permanent type of roads, the statement said.

It was also announced that Raymond Smith, Republican, formerly county surveyor of Champaign county, "who has made an enviable record in the construction of and maintenance of excellent gravel and loose stone roads," has been placed in charge of this type of construction. "The appointment of a man of opposite politics to that of the administration is evidence that the highway department is placing qualifications ahead of political expediency when it comes to the selection of competent engineering," the statement said. The statement said that "in many counties of the state especially in the southern and southeastern regions it is in accordance with sound engineering principles to maintain loose gravel or stone roads and at the same time build up the road bed and drainage structures, until such time as the demands of traffic and financial ability of the counties will warrant construction of more permanent types of pavement." It is "in line with the best engineering practice,"

Since July 1 of the highway department has entered into agreements to construct more than 140 miles of this type of road and has in contemplation 200 additional miles, the statement said. The average estimated cost of these type of roads being less than $2,000 per mile.

VICKS VAPORUB

Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly

Dear Dolly—Don't you think something should be done to keep young men from blocking the sidewalks at Fifth and Chillicothe streets, especially on Tuesday and Saturday nights when respectable people have business down town and must pass this corner? They will stand right out in the middle of the sidewalk and some of the language they use would not look very well in print. Dolly, I would like to pass a tip to the federal officers to hang around that corner for an hour or so on one of the nights mentioned and they can get all kinds of boozes. They just pass bottles from one to another and sit in parked machines and drink right out in public. Those who don't drink get a free second drink every time they pass this corner. Now I hope some one will get busy and see that they move on or behave themselves.

DISGUSTED READER.
Dear Dolly—I am a married man, and happily married at that. Dolly, we have no children and we go and come when we please. I go when and where I want to, my wife does the same, by mutual consent of course. There is no understanding or fussing about it. That is a mutual agreement. Then too, my wife can speak to any man she wants to speak to. That is her business and mine. I can trust her to talk to anybody and she can trust me the same way. That is the only way for married people to get along, but very few of them do this. Now Dolly, here is where the trouble comes in. We have a neighbor who is sore because we get along so nicely and go and come when we please and she is trying to start something. She tells her neighbors so that I will hear it, that my wife goes with other men and speaks to other men, and that certain men pass our house just to see my wife, and a lot of foolishness like that. Well, she is just a jealous woman. I have to go to court and sue her for slander. A FRIENDLY MAN.

Well, Well! Well! here comes another case of mistaken identity. There must be quite a few busybodies, or women who haven't anything else to do but mind other people's business in Portsmouth as this is the third letter I received in the same mail about a reader who had a letter in this department a few days ago. The woman mentioned in that letter was a widow, and dear wife at all.

Dear Dolly—I had been going with a nice young man for two years, and about five months ago we became engaged. He lived out of town and came back when ever he could to see me. When he didn't come we corresponded. After we became engaged he came to see me and a relative who hadn't any thing else to do but stick her nose in other people's business, got busy and told him a lot of stuff about me that wasn't true, and of course he believed her and we quit. Dolly, what he was away I went with another man once again for a cool time, and he treated me just fine, although I do not know how he treated other girls he went with. Dolly, I just went with els, even for a good time. So long as you feel that way about your wife, be husband, I would advise you to wait until you feel different.

Dear Dolly—Is cocoa butter cream a good skin food? Dolly, is there any danger of it causing pimples on one's face? And Dolly, will it enlarge the pores? Is pure castile soap any better than the other soaps that are highly recommended for the skin?

TIMES READER
Cocoa butter is recommended as a good skin food, if you have the patience to use it long enough, but one usually gets disgusted when they use it so long and fail to see themselves filling up and rounding out like a butter ball. I don't think the butter itself would cause a down on your face, but the constant massage, and the use of the butter might, if there is a tendency to grow down anyway. Castile soap is all right, but I don't think it any better than the other highly recommended soaps on the market.

An Admirer of the Black-Haired Sweetie of New Boston—I don't think it advisable to print letters like the one you sent me about the girl you admire. I might just as well print her name and address as that letter. If you want to go with the girl, surely right up and tell her so. She can't say no to you, but she can say yes and then you will have it off your chest and be out of your misery.

NERVOUS WOMAN COMPLETE WRECK

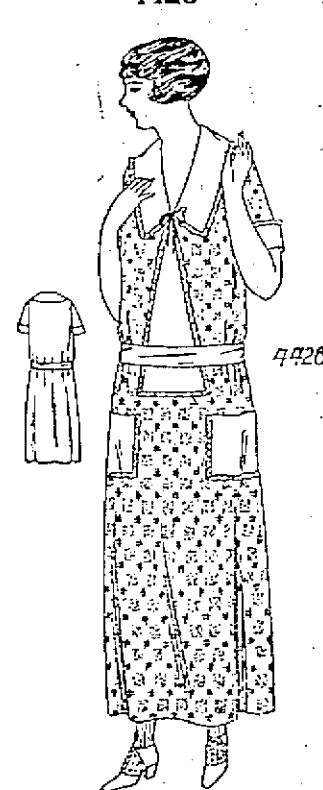

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Indianapolis, Ind.—"Now I want to tell you just what induced me to take your medicine. It seemed that I had come to a kind of weakness so that I could not carry a child's full time. The last time I was troubled this way I had a nervous breakdown and was a complete wreck. The doctor thought I would not live, and I did not. I was strong again. But I told them I was going to get well, that I was not going to die just then. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took six bottles of it. I soon got strong again and had three more children. I have recommended the vegetable compound ever since, and you could see me now you would think I had always been well."—Mrs. MARY F. HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It to Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination. Perhaps you don't know that you have this serious trouble which often causes dizziness and unexpected death, but if you suffer from dizzy spells, shortness of breath, hot flashes, or nervousness, you can't sleep well, your blood pressure is undoubtedly higher than it ought to be even if you don't realize it.

Norma, the prescription of a Buffalo physician, reduces high blood pressure, then all the ailments caused by this abnormal and dangerous condition quickly disappear.

Fisher and Streich and reliable druggists everywhere have a big demand for Norma—it has helped thousands and should do the same for you. Be sure to ask for Norma, as this is purely vegetable and guaranteed to contain nothing harmful.

Reduce Your Fat Without Dieting

Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—"exercise." Today it is "Take Marmol." "Take Marmol," friends tell friends—these friends tell others. They eat substantial food, live as they like and still reduce steadily and easily without going through long periods of strenuous exercise, starvation diet, and almost greases and salves. Marmol Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists in the world over at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer you can order direct from the Marmol Co., 442 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.—advertisement.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THREE GREEDY PIGS

"Let's talk about something to eat," said Piggy Wig Pig.

Piggy Wig Pig and Sancy Shout Pig and Twisty Tail Pig were all lying side by side in a cool muddy puddle in Squigly-Moo Land.

"They looked like three sausages that had been stuffed too tight and were ready to burst if you touched them." Piggy Wig Pig was black, Sancy Shout Pig was white and Twisty Tail Pig was black and white, but just now they were brown all over, the three of them, for they had rolled in the mud and dried off and they were sights to behold!

"Let's talk about something to eat," said Piggy Wig Pig.

"Yes, let's," agreed the others. But to Sancy and Nick and Mister Dodger the four men, on the other side of the fence, it just sounded as though one pig was grunting, another squealing, and another snorting, such funny noises they made when they talked.

"I like buttermilk with corn cobs floating in it," said Piggy Wig Pig, snuffling his lip.

"And I like the days when they have apple pies!" said Sancy Shout. "Then they dump all the apple peelings and apple cores into the trough. Um!"

"Oh, I like anything!" declared Twisty Tail. "I'm not particular. Clover's good though. I like that!"

Now, I didn't tell you that there was another little pig in the field, but there was! A nice, clean little red fellow, who wasn't very fat, or very big, or very curly—his tail wasn't—and he wasn't dirty at all! But he was very hungry.

Farmer Brown had bought him from a neighbor, and he felt very lonely and forlorn, for the other pigs wouldn't look at him at all!

Just then there was a loud humming. It was Farmer Brown emptying his slop pails into the trough at the pig-sty.

Instantly there was a scrambling and off started the four pigs for their lunch.

"Get out!" squealed Piggy Wig Pig at the stranger.

"Wait till we're through," grunted Sancy Shout over his fat shoulder.

"We'll give you what's left," called Twisty Tail.

"That's the way it always was. No wonder poor Reddy Pig was so thin and hungry! For there never was anything left!"

But suddenly something happened. Sancy grabbed one greedy pig by his hind foot, and Nick grabbed another and Mister Dodger grabbed the third. "Go on Reddy, and eat your fill," cried the fairman.

Which he did without any coaxing. There was never any more trouble after that, for the pigs all promised to be good.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES—UNDER THE GROUND.

"Well," said Mother Earth, "you have often wished for gold and silver jewels. I will give them all to you. I come down here for?" "For your baseball," replied Mother Earth. Then she gave the ball to Jack and told him to crawl through a hole nearby, and back to earth.

"Oh, I'd much rather go back to earth," replied Jack. "But what did I come down here for?" "For your baseball," replied Mother Earth. Then she gave the ball to Jack and told him to crawl through a hole nearby, and back to earth.

Jack thanked the kindly old lady and, calling to Flip, started to crawl through the hole. Soon he was out on a hillside and in the open air again. And the hole in the ground closed up. His trip "Under the Ground" was over. Jack's next adventure is in the Olden Castle.

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease"

because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain-racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical men who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such special ailments as lumbago, neuritis, sciatica, achy muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Fischer & Streich Pharmacy dispenses it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere.

The Truth About

Eczema and Piles

"Thousands and thousands of people," says Peterson of Buffalo, "are learning every week that one 35-cent box of Peter's Cream Ointment will abolish eczema and piles, and the grateful letters I receive every day are worth more to me than money."
"I had eczema for many years on my head and could not get anything to stop it. I saw Peter's Cream and got one box and I owe you many thanks for the good it has done me. There isn't a patch on my head now and I couldn't have got it if it weren't for the cream." Miss Mary Hill, 429 Third Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.
"I have had itching piles for 15 years and Peterson's is the only ointment that relieves me. Besides the piles, I have hemorrhoids, and all skin diseases. Druggists recommend it—advertisements."

Local Exchange Club Approves Plan
State Association In Handling Boy Problem

Endorsement of the program of the Ohio Affiliated Exchange clubs, which deals with "The Boy Problem of Ohio," formed the principal business of the local Exchange club last evening.

The Ohio clubs have adopted the following platform: "The Ohio clubs recognize and urge that age has nothing to do with crime, and that punishment should be meted out in accordance with the personal type and character of the offender, and recommended."

The establishment of local correction schools, operated in conjunction with the local board of education for the good of the boy who has "slipped," but not wilfully done wrong.

2. The making of Lancaster a Reformatory School in the true sense of the word, to wit: an institution for boys who have gone wrong but are still susceptible of reform.

3. The removal from Lancaster and Mansfield of the degenerate and feeble-minded type of offender, and the making of Mansfield a prison for the hardened type of offender.

4. The making of the new state prison at New London an institution for the incarceration of mature offenders susceptible of reform.

5. The making of the Columbus penitentiary the final terminal for the hardened criminal.

This plan involves the segregation of offenders and will save many good boys who are contaminated by association with all kinds, classes and types in our institutions today and the working out of the plan will save the state of Ohio many thousands of dollars.

Further discussion of the above program will take place at a later meeting and the club will use its influence whenever possible to advance the interests of "The Boys" of Ohio.

A message from Dr. C. L. Ferguson, delegate to the National Association of Exchange clubs, at Springfield, Mass., said the sessions were most beneficial. He will make a report in full at a later meeting. Nashville was chosen for next year's meeting place.

West End Improvement Association
Has Plan To Eliminate Double Tracking

The West End Improvement Association had a busy session last night, when several matters regarded as of important value to the West End were considered.

Routing of street cars, so as to eliminate double tracking of Second and Chillicothe streets, at the same time extending and developing the downtown business district, was urged at the meeting. If the proposed plan were adopted, cars coming down Ninth to Chillicothe would continue to Washington, going from Washington to Third and west on that street. The loop track would then turn south to Second, returning to Chillicothe and north to Ninth, joining the present system there. By this plan, the loop would extend down the Chillicothe and out the Second street business districts, streets one square apart in each case being single-tracked, not only eliminating traffic congestion on the double track streets but developing parallel extensions of the present shopping districts.

A committee of three, consisting of August F. Doss, Earl Hammish and Adam Sommer was appointed to work on street car company officials and urge the plan, in order that it may be considered before proposed resurfacing of Second Street necessitates tearing up of the Second street tracks.

The committee in charge of circulating Second street paving petitions reported favorable sentiment from all of the larger property holders interested, and another committee was appointed to interview smaller frontage holders and complete the obtaining of the necessary signatures. On this committee are J. W. Carroll, J. E. Hynnah, O. E. Riskey and George Kah.

Elect Pastor; Get New Room

The Nazarene church congregation has leased the business room at 524 Second street as a place to hold services. The lease is for a year. Friday meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 will be the first service in the new place.

At a called meeting of the congregation on Monday Rev. H. S. Davis was elected pastor. He expects to be located here within a week or ten days. He is said to be an able leader and the church expects to grow steadily under his guidance. A series of meetings recently announced will be postponed for a few weeks.

Cannonball Buys Three New Cars

J. P. Grubb of the Cannonball Transportation Company announced last night that three new closed model Studebaker cars had been purchased and two of them placed in operation between here and Ironton. Grubb said last night that he is facing a big problem on account of heavy traffic and that double-enders are being run in an effort to take care of business.

He is also making plans to open a waiting station in Ironton and one in New Boston and has under consideration a half hour schedule.

Accused Of Selling Mortgaged Property

The troubles of William Estep, Madison township man, held in the county jail on various charges of violating the dry laws, were augmented yesterday when Emory Smith, manager of the Industrial Loan company, swore out a warrant in Municipal court, charging the mortgage last August.

Davis Case Reaches Supreme Court

Judge A. Z. Blair is in Columbus today appearing before the Supreme court for the defendant in the case of the State against Robert Davis, Adams county murderer, which is before the higher court for review from an order of the Court of Appeals remanding the case to the Adams county Common Pleas court for retrial.

Davis was convicted several months ago by an Adams county jury for murder in the first degree without a recommendation for mercy, for the killing of George Webb last October during a dispute over a roadway near Senman, where both lived.

Davis was sentenced to be executed but stay was granted when error proceedings were prosecuted to the Appellate court, which ordered a new trial. Attorneys for the state then made application to the Supreme court to review the action of the Appellate court in remanding the case.

EISTEDDFOD OPENS IN JACKSON; LOCAL CONTESTANTS WIN; BIG CONTESTS TONIGHT

Jackson was thronged to-day with hundreds of people from this section of the country who visited that city to attend the second annual Eisteddfod festival scheduled for this morning, afternoon and evening. Hotels were crowded as early as Wednesday afternoon and it was impossible to find accommodations in the city, although many motored there just for the day.

Portsmouth contestants carried off two prizes this morning, when the various contests were held for the young people. Mary Elizabeth Gilmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Gilmore, won the prize for little girl's solo.

Arthur DeVoss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeVoss, won the prize for boy's solo.

Pauline Rogers, of Jackson, won the contest for readers. In penmanship Miss Elizabeth Roe Jones, Jackson, was judged the winner. Margaret Ann Evans, Van Wert, was the winner in short-story writing. Effie Martin, Gallipolis, won the piano solo contest for girls under 12. Hester Booth, Jackson, was the winner for girls between 12 and 16. Jackson, won in the Children's chorus contest. Two Women, Three Men Caught In Lewis County Raids By F. W. Rickey

(Special To Times)

VANCEBURG, KY., Sept. 27.—Federal Prohibition Officer F. W. Rickey and his assistants shifted their scene of operations from Portsmouth to Lewis county Wednesday afternoon and in two raids captured two women and three men.

The women gave the names of Sadie Newman, aged 25, and Martha Ambrose, aged 20, and they were lodged in the county jail here after 46 gallons of whisky were found in their home, arresting officers say. The 30 gallon capacity still was found near the home occupied by the two women, but three men who were near the still and heard a shot fired by one of the women escaped and are still enjoying their freedom.

When the women saw that the jig was up, a revolver was discharged and this served to warn the stillers that a raid was on and it was a good time for them to fade into the landscape, which they did. This still was located near what is known as Britar, Ky.

At McDowell, back of Garrison, three men were arrested after a huge still had been uncovered. At the Vanceburg jail they gave the names of W. G. Howard, aged 60, his son, Ernest, aged 32, and J. J. Morgan, aged 25. They were charged with manufacturing, possessing and selling whisky. The two women under arrest face a charge of possession.

Finish Coolidge

corporations but it revealed that the board did have the right to lease its vessels' terms satisfactory to the board. This loop hole will afford Chairman Farley and the board an opportunity to put into operation their plan of subsidiary companies just the same but with the vessels leased to the corporations instead of sold to them.

Mr. Farley is the true author of the plan, having suggested it to Mr. Lasker when he was still Chairman of the Board and it was largely through the influence of the latter that President Harding approved the policy. The new chairman of the Shipping Board is warmly supported therefore by his predecessor who it is understood told the President today why the consolidation of established shipping lines into subsidiary companies would be advantageous to the government and enable the board ultimately to get more for the ships and the collateral organization than would have been possible through leases or charters on a commission basis to private citizens.

One of the curious phases of the Attorney General's opinion is his ruling that the "United States" is not a citizen of the United States. The point arose in connection with the proposed sale of the ships to corporations owned by the United States. The law says the vessels may be sold to citizens of the United States only, and the Attorney General argues that a transfer of title or sale by the government of its own ships to companies in which it holds all the stock is not a sale to American citizens. This point will be disputed and the Attorney General admits it is legal but nevertheless until it is cleared up there will be considerable doubt as to the powers of the shipping board.

The latest suggestion is that the companies be organized as planned but that the ships be allocated to the companies under leases or charters just as if the vessels had been made to private companies. The board would retain the right to revoke the leases if it wished to dissolve the corporations and would retain its right to vote as the majority stockholder. The objection suggested by Mr. Daugherty's opinion that the officers and directors would not be amenable to government discipline would thus be met. President Coolidge has told some of his cabinet that he believed in the Farley plan and wanted to see it put into operation. He did not comment before the Attorney General rendered his opinion, but is said to be expressing disappointment now over the snag which the plan has struck.

The "fight has just begun," declared leaders of the movement. "The meeting of the legislature has just started."

"The legislature shall not meet," was Governor Walton's report from the executive mansion a few hours later. He added that he would welcome a test in the courts, declaring that any such meeting would be a direct violation of the constitution.

Allowing the governor no opportunity to carry out his threat of closing all force of arms and men necessary to prevent the session, the legislators have agreed to await the outcome of their action in the courts before attempting to convene again.

The executive has charged that 63 members of the house are Ku Klux Klansmen and that their proposed meeting would be barred under the martial law decree prohibiting "unlawful Klan assemblies."

Good Relations Between France And Britain Have Been Restored, Says Baldwin

NORTHAMPTON, ENGLAND, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin speaking here today, declared that his conference with Premier Poincare in Paris last week had had the effect of restoring the former good relations between France and Great Britain. The atmosphere of restraint and almost of distrust that prevailed between countries when the present British government came into office has been changed, he said, into one of mutual confidence.

"I think," said Mr. Baldwin, "that there is now, both in Paris and London, recognition of the importance of the entente in this way—that without it a European settlement would be far more difficult. The best hope of settlement lies in the intimate relationship between France and this country."

Peace, he added, was necessary for a solution of the situation confronting Europe.

Promoters Of "Spanish Prisoners" Confidence Game Arrested

BARCELONA, Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Men who for many years have been working what has come to be known as the "Spanish prisoners" confidence game have been arrested by the police.

For many years these swindlers have been flooding the world with heart-rending letters of appeal in behalf of fictitious prisoners who are represented as requesting financial assistance so that they may pay their fines and obtain possession of their valuable hidden treasure. The swindlers have been carried out on a huge scale, not less than fifty thousand letters having been dispatched from Barcelona in a single year by the huge staff of secretaries employed by the band.

The police confiscated carefully kept files of the names and addresses of persons from whom money, which might be obtained. The authorities said that this record was the most elaborate work of its kind ever compiled.

Among those apprehended were two employees of the Barcelona telephone office. The police confiscated carefully kept files of the names and addresses of persons from whom money, which might be obtained. The authorities said that this record was the most elaborate work of its kind ever compiled.

Steady Tone In Curb Trading

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The market for the curb exchange today while one quiet trading, showed a generally dull tone and there was evidence of speculation by foreign interests in a few movements, however, continued to reflect an absence of outside interest and after some gains at the opening, later transactions were mostly made at moderate concessions. The Vacuum Oil made a fractional gain at the start and then reacted. Independent Oil stocks moved in the same way, Gilco Service being in supply at a moderate decline.

ber of groups. This was most in the petroleum issues, a lizing influence of steady quiet ring of many of the Standard Oil day of the day having impressed on the trading situation and sed a marked contraction of bear- efforts in those stocks. Price	heavy trading continued in Stand- ard Oil of Indiana which started with a fractional gain that was turned into a loss around mid-day. Standard Oil of New York dropped sharply from the opening, but as the reaction still showed an improvement over the trading position a short time ago.	There was a good volume of busi- ness in Royal Canadian Syndicate at around 115 previous level. There was a moderate amount of business in Barham Corporation prior to its transfer to the New York Stock Ex- change. Bridgeport Machine also showed a firm tone.

Babe Bitten By Rat Is Better

Harry Robert, 15 months old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lowder, of 701 Front street, was bitten on the middle finger of the right hand about two weeks ago and for a short time it was thought that part of the finger would have to be amputated to halt the spread of infection, but an x-ray taken of the finger shows that the bone is not infected. The child's condition is much improved.

The baby had been asleep on the bed and was bitten about nine o'clock last evening. The parents were attracted by the baby's cries and unable to find any cause for his condition in a physician who found the baby had been bitten by a rat.

The business college basketball team will start practicing next Monday night.

Any better used in connection with vegetables should be of the very first quality, otherwise it is better to rely merely upon salt and pepper for a seasoning.

Judge J. S. Thomas sentenced Turner to from one to ten years in the Ohio State Penitentiary.

The trial of Robert Turner, negro, charged with second degree murder for the killing of Charles ("Sockeye") Johnson, negro, on July 23 last, started before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas Court Thursday morning. Good progress was made in the hearing at the morning session as little time was consumed in the selection of the jury and the evidence was virtually concluded when court adjourned for the noon recess. Speeding up the proceedings it was indicated that the case will go to the jury late this afternoon.

The jury, which is hearing the case, is composed of one woman and eleven men, as follows: Cornelius Trumbull, E. W. Purdy, Adam Buch, William Altman, Reuben Lukemeyer, W. J. Shannon, George Jenkins, Spencer Gowdy, Frank Gaskie, Charles N. Moore, Thomas Thompson and Harry Baker.

The crime for which Turner is on trial occurred on the morning of July 23 last, when the state claims the defendant shot and killed Johnson in the latter's living room in the rear of 1021 Eleventh street without just cause or provocation. It was admitted by both sides that the fatal shooting came as a sequel to an altercation between the defendant and the accused over a small sum of money involved in a card game called "skin," in which they had been engaged with others.

Drs. Ira Martin and J. W. Fitch, who performed the autopsy on Johnson's body, were called to the stand by the state to describe the wound which caused death.

John ("Sugarfoot") McDonald, Frank Johnson and Thomas Lyons, all negroes, eye-witnesses to the shooting, told the jury in detail the events which led up to the tragedy. Their stories did not differ materially. They testified that the men became involved in an altercation over a dollar which Turner claimed was coming to him in the "skin" game and that Johnson slapped Turner in the mouth when the latter quit the game and demanded his money. They said that Turner immediately on being struck ran out the door and that Johnson slammed the door shut when he discovered that Turner had drawn a pistol and exclaimed: "Lookout! He's got a gun!" The witnesses stated that Turner fired a shot into the room through a window and then pushed the door back and entered.

with his gun in hand, and fired again. As all except Johnson, who had crawled under the bed, scrambled to get behind a brick chimney in one corner of the room. The shot wounded McDonald in the right arm and entered Johnson's chest and the latter died from the wound within a few minutes.

William Jackson and Helen Johnson testified to seeing Turner in Paradise Alley shortly before the shooting and of hearing him make threats that he was "going to get someone."

Nannie White, colored, said she saw Johnson shove Turner out of the room onto the walk and that the latter drew a gun and fired through the window. She said she begged

Turner not to do that, but that he did not heed and re-entered the house where the fatal shooting occurred a moment later.

On the stand in his own behalf Turner declared that he shot in his own proper self defense. He told of the trouble which arose over the money in the card game and of Johnson striking him in the face, insisting that the latter chased him out the door with a knife in hand. He insisted that when Johnson made a move as to secure a gun from McDonald's inside pocket that he himself thought he was in danger and shot Johnson to protect himself. During his recital Turner declared that Johnson was a quarrelsome and dangerous man and that Johnson and his companions had conspired to beat him out of his money. He said that he had trouble with Johnson on other occasions when he insisted that Johnson had imposed upon him.

Georgia Douglas, negro, testified of having seen Johnson give Turner a whipping a couple of weeks before the fatal shooting.

Captain Lee Stratzman and Patrolmen Len Kennerd and H. G. Amick, testified that the reputation of the murdered man for peace and quiet was bad, while the defendant's reputation in the same respect was good.

Attorney C. F. Higgins is defending the accused and Prosecutor S. Austin Sisson is handling the case for the state.

Conductors And Trainmen To Present Requests For Wage Increase

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—General Chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors within a few days will present requests for wage increases of approximately 12 per cent to railroads in the eastern, western and southern sections of the country following completion today of the counting of ballots in a joint referendum vote of trainmen and conductors, which was practically unanimous in favor of the presenting the wage increase proposal to the railroads.

Chairmen and executive committee members, the three regional associations of the two organizations headed by President L. E. Shepard, of the conductors, and W. N. Doak, vice president of the trainmen, have been counting the ballots for three days. The increase is asked to replace the practically 10 per cent wage reduction handed down by the United States Railroad Labor Board on July 1, 1921, President Shepard said.

Church last night held a special meeting at the close of their regular Wednesday prayer services, which Dr. Chas. E. Chandler, their retiring pastor, led.

Geo D. Selby spoke feelingly on behalf of the congregation, for which he acted as spokesman. His farewell talk was followed by others, made by Charles Baker, on behalf of the younger members of the church, Superintendent O. E. Rickey for the Sunday School; L. T. Henderson for the Portsmouth Boy Scouts, a movement in which Rev. Chandler has taken an active and much appreciated interest.

Dr. Chandler was deeply affected by the farewell tribute, which was staged as a surprise.

Another Severe Quake Hits Part Of Japan

TOKIO, Sept. 27.—(By the A. P.)—Another severe earthquake occurred in Japan Monday in the Hiroshima district. The quake was especially violent around the city of Kure. The extent of the damage has not been determined as communications have been disrupted.

Kure is in the extreme southwestern end of the island of Honshu and approximately 450 miles southwest of Tokio.

Floods have followed a typhoon yesterday in Fukagawa and Honjo, wards of Tokio. Many have suffered as a result, as thousands of refugees were encamped in rude shacks in these wards.

The storm damaged rice and other crops in many prefectures.

Thousands of men, chiefly professional men and clerks, are out of employment here as a result of the earthquake. They are also without hope of obtaining employment for months to come, although there is plenty of work for common laborers cleaning away debris and at construction work.

The authorities are faced with the problem of caring temporarily for these men. They have been advised to leave Tokio, but there is nowhere they can go.

Campers Lack Clothes. The clothing problem is next to that of unemployment. Great quantities of clothing were destroyed and it will be months before merchants can re-stock. Meanwhile, cold weather is approaching. Even now the nights are colder and campers are suffering considerably.

Efforts are being made by the government and the Red Cross to deal with a threatened epidemic of dysentery and typhoid fever. Many cases already have been reported.

Assault Case To Be Heard Friday

Delbert Hale and Jeff Gilliam, New Boston young men, will be brought to trial before Judge Thomas and a jury in Common Pleas court Friday morning under an indictment charging them with assault with intent to kill C. M. Copas, local real estate agent.

The accused will be defended by Attorney Theo. K. Funk, and Prosecutor Skelton will appear for the state.

Copas was recently assaulted at Fourteenth and Findlay streets and was laid up a week, he says.

Daniel Egbert Dies Suddenly

Daniel Egbert, life long resident of Scioto county and former well known Democratic county commissioner, died at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the final summons coming to him in his home on Miller's Run, four miles north of Leesville. His death was attributed to complications and followed a brief illness, many of Mr. Egbert's legion of friends not being aware of his illness. He was in Portsmouth several days ago, and while not in the best of health, he greeted friends with the same old smile and enthusiasm. He complained of feeling badly shortly after the noon hour today, and two hours later he passed away.

Mr. Egbert, who was 60 years old last May, is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Louella Johnson, who resided in the Egbert homestead on Miller's Run, and Mrs. Dora Johnson and four sons: George, John, Walter and Marion of this city. He also leaves one brother, William, who resides on Miller's Run.

Mr. Egbert had served several terms as a commissioner in Scioto county and was a man held in the highest esteem. He was jovial and companionable at all times and enjoyed visits in the city, always looking up old friends to chat with them. He was a successful farmer, dutiful husband and devoted father, and he will be missed. His faithful life-mate, Mrs. Mary Egbert, passed away two years ago.

Mr. Egbert was a man who possessed good, sound judgment, and in his death Valley township loses one of its most loyal and progressive citizens. He was an uncompromising Democrat, and the news of this good citizen's passing will elicit general regret as to know popular and able Dan Egbert was to die, as he possessed friend-making characteristics that were among his most prominent assets. He was a brother-in-law of George and W. A. Warster of this city.

Hornsby Fined; Suspended

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—Rogers, championship batsman of the national league, was suspended indefinitely and fined $500 for declining to play in yesterday's game against Brooklyn.

Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Cardinals, who announced the suspension last night, declared that he had no choice but to suspend Rogers because he had refused to appear in the lineup after the club physician had advised the star second baseman that he was in condition to play. Hornsby has been out of the game since September 9 with a skin affection.

Hornsby, who has been a member of the Cardinals for eight years, explained his action by saying that he needed a day's practice before he could resume play with justice to the club and himself.

The slinger said that shortly after he informed Branch Rickey, manager of the team, to that effect yesterday, Breadon told him that "you or nobody else, on the team is going to run my ball club" and handed him notice of the fine and suspension.

Reports that Manager Rickey and Hornsby were not on the best of terms were taken notice of recently when it was learned that the two had come to blows in the club house at New York on August 23 after an argument over directing the team. Rickey's official announcement was made that the incident was closed and rumors that Hornsby either would be sold or traded to another club were declared to be without foundation.

Cleveland Indians Retain Second Place

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Yankees lost yesterday to the Tigers, 5 to 3, but Detroit dropped further back into third place in the American league nevertheless, as the Cleveland Indians won two games from the Athletics, 5 to 2, and 6 to 2. The first game was an eleven-inning affair.

In the National league there was no action in the pennant race, as both Cincinnati and New York were idle. St. Louis trimmed the Brooklyn Robins, 7 to 5, in St. Louis. The Brooklyn batters hit hard, but could not overcome the Cardinals' early lead.

The Pirates took an easy game from Philadelphia, 6 to 0. Morrison allowed the Philadelphiaans but one hit. The Pirates found Behan and Head with ease for twelve bingles. The Senators shut out the White Sox, 1 to 0, in an abridged fight pitched by the Red Sox beat the Browns, 3 to 2.

McTigue Matched

COLUMBUS, Georgia, Sept. 27.—Mike McTigue, light-heavyweight champion of the world, is expected to arrive here today to prepare for his fight with Young Stribling of Macon, Georgia, October 4.

Stribling has been training at Warm Springs for two weeks with his father, George, as his trainer and his mother, his coach. At his camp approximately five thousand visitors have passed through the gates to watch the 18 year old youth train for his fight with the Irishman, 14 years his senior. The Georgian plans to enter the ring at 102 pounds.

Because the youngster is an apt student at high school, his trainer and his chef are making him spend his idle moments at his books. While Stribling, Sr., is only five feet in height, and weighs about twenty-five pounds less than his fighting son, he is head of everything around the camp, except perhaps, the culinary department.

Stribling, whose name is a household word in Georgia, is a modest, retiring youth.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 27.—The city boxing commission has voted to refuse to pay the purse to Jack Malone, St. Paul middleweight, and Frank Carbone of New York because of their unsatisfactory boxing exhibition here Tuesday night. The bout was stopped in the ninth round after the referee repeatedly had warned the fighters to cease their indifferent tactics.

BLAIR AND KIETH REMATCHED; FIGHT HERE OCTOBER 5 IN MILLBROOK PAVILION

The next boxing show will be held at the Millbrook pavilion Friday evening, October 5, with Nig Blair of Portsmouth, and Phil Keith, of Louisville, furnishing the thrills for the main event which will be for ten three-minute rounds. Blair and Keith will meet up in the semi-final for eight rounds. This will be their second meeting. The first scrap resulted in a draw. Blair, who was the victor in the first round, was knocked out by Keith in the second round. This time Blair is expected to show great improvement and is quite anxious to even the score with Keith. There will also be two six-round bouts. George Alexander and Charlie Plisen will battle for the bantam championship of the city. This is sure to be a real slam-bang bout as both boys have been hurling challenges at each other for almost two years. Young Snell of Springfield, will go six rounds with Ed McAndrews of Cincinnati, in the opener. Snell is the boxer who knocked out Jack Major in this city over a year ago. McAndrews is managed by Frank Rappold of Cincinnati, who also handles Phil Keith. Speedy Sparks and other good performers will also be on the card. The tickets will go on sale this Saturday evening at the Smoke House at the same popular prices.

Vanceburg "Loading Up" For Sunday's Game

Smarting under the fall taken out of them at the Millbrook arena last Sunday by the Hays Motor nine, the Vanceburg crew, with strong reinforcements, will show again at the local pasture next Sunday. The Kentuckians are coming back for revenge with the hope of turning the tables, according to word from the Lewis county capital. They have practically recruited a team composed of players from the Blue Grass league at big expense in an effort to beat the locals.

Manager Teddy Weber expresses the hope that the invaders will be a strong aggregation for he declares "the bigger they are the harder they fall," and asserts that the visiting tribe is sure in for a kicking. The motor team has been materially strengthened by the addition of Eddie Donalds, who will pitch the combat with "Chuck" McDaniels behind the bat, while other local star performers including Stanley Benton, Al Bridwell, "Piggy" Blake, H. Fortner and Hacky Devoes, and probably Earl Smith will be in the lineup. One can imagine even now what a belting Southpaw minor is in for when he faces this gang of maulers.

Much interest is centered in this combat and the biggest throng of the season promises to turn out to witness what promises to be a stirring struggle, and a big delegation of Vanceburg fans will accompany their team here to root for the representatives who will try to uphold the Kentucky colors.

Play will be called promptly at 2:30 and then for a couple of hours there promises to be barrels and barrels of excitement.

CONTRARY WINDS BLOW

STRAWS are said to show which way the wind blows and on that basis it does not appear the early political zephyrs are blowing at all fair for the Coolidge presidential barge.

Somehow, it has always seemed to us election news is never stated strongly favorably to Democrats. When the vote is going their way it is always soft pedaled until the full story has to be told. So it is that here, two days after, we haven't anything more definite from the special election in the Fifth Congressional district, Washington, than that the intimation is it is running adversely to the Republicans, and the probabilities are that a Democrat will be elected to the vacancy, caused by the death of a Republican incumbent.

This is most disturbing news at Washington. It deepens the disaster of Harding's western trip, undertaken with the purpose of promoting his own candidacy and restoring the wavering party lines. It was inferred that the tragic end of that journey would vastly promote the latter end. The supposition, however, that the revolt reported from the west was to be so easily subdued, is now shown to have been altogether unfounded.

And why not? The west founds not only its prosperity, but its very commercial existence upon the products of the land. There, far more acutely than eastward, is felt the outbalance of soil and manufacture. The farmer realizes more fully that he is paying the most for everything he consumes and getting the least for what he produces because proportionately there are more farmers, more of wealth in the raw, or rather should be in the west.

President Coolidge isn't responsible for this condition. As vice-president he was merely a formal figure, as most vice-presidents before him were. As president he hasn't done a thing, not so much as to utter a single word of what he proposed or hoped to do. That, however, doesn't matter. It is the responsibility now, just the same. It is the way of American politics and he must suffer because of disappointment in his party.

AGAIN AS TO THE LAW

THE board of elections has thrown out nominations of several candidates for school directors, on strictly technical objections, that were offered to the legal sufficiency of their nominating petitions.

Perhaps this was the better and legal course, but the matter still illustrates the utter stupidity of Ohio election laws in general.

The fool legislature is never able to see anything in elections, but partisan politics, so it frames all its statutes with an eye single thereto.

School elections, as a rule, are not partisan, except as to some local issue, ordinarily the retention of this or that teacher or principal. It occurs therefore that the law does not fit this situation at all, looking as it does to partisan nominations solely. How absurdly it works is shown in the local cases. Petitions were thrown out for the three separate reasons: One that it had no names on it at all of committee to fill the vacancy in case this was a lapse in the nomination; another because it didn't have a sufficiency of such names and a third that it had too many.

The absurd and vague requirement of the law is that "a committee to the number of five" shall appear on the petition. Can anyone say whether that means less than five, exactly five or more than five? We have read the provision over, pondered on it more than once and yet we can form no conclusion as to what would be its most correct interpretation. To the number of five, it means there may be less, no it means there shall be five; wrong, it means there shall not be less than five. Confound it, doesn't mean anything, it's just pure idiosyncrasy.

The European crises seem to have all flocked to Bulgaria.

American resorts are quite all complaining of scant summer patronage. Most everybody ran off to Europe and that because the resort hotels put on more tariff than the vacationer felt like bearing.

A Kentuckian, shooting at another, defends on the ground that he thought he was a justice of the peace. Ample and sufficient excuse, we suppose, in Kentucky and not without certain plausibility elsewhere.

Best fire department we ever had was the unanimous verdict, after the blaze on Fourth street, Tuesday afternoon, was so promptly squelched. Pleasant to hear that sort of talk and to know it is well deserved.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTIRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Dana, called them "buccaneers" on the high seas of journalism. Some call them press agents, publicity promoters, fakirs and space grabbers. Yet here is a calling, peculiar to New York, that is paying in some instances salaries of $75,000 a year.

Press agency is geared to its highest pitch here. It used to be the men who sired, nursed and reared reputations worked only for people of the stage. Today there are few big men who haven't their press representative.

Shops of all kind—even the florist—have brash young men who try to bring trade to the door by the newspaper puff. City editors admit some of the best stories of the town are "tipped off" by press agents.

With rare exception, the press agent came from the editorial room of a newspaper. He advances to his clients the theory that in New York there is only one bell—and that is to be disregarded. So for a consideration he agrees to trumpet the obscure into everlasting fame.

The socially ambitious who bet in vain against barred doors, pay thousands of dollars weekly in their effort to be exploited in the social columns. A hundred social weeklies subsist on money paid by these same people to run their pictures and the blurb.

One woman indeed—when egress to the inner circle was denied—founded a society paper in Long Island and with it held up so many to scorn she was accepted and now occupies a leadership among a class that once repulsed her.

The highest priced professional puffer is said to be Ivy Lee, who has a huge organization he directs down town. Several theatrical press agents who direct various activities of leading producers are paid $15,000 a year. The average pay, however, is $200 a week.

He was one of those concert managers who take a young singer's last $500 and delivers nothing but the four walls of an almost empty hall at her debut. She faced the orchestra to a handful of people and then went home and swallowed poison, but prompt measures saved her. Her brother—a gob on a battleship—came over from Brooklyn, hunted up the manager and gave him a thrashing and then made him give the girl back $250 of her money.

There are cafes in New York where patrons can be seen drinking intoxicating liquors plainly from the street. Mostly they are cafes in private homes—gaily awninged places that attempt to imitate the Parisian restaurant. They dot every section of the town and are increasing by large numbers weekly. As a rule they are conducted by Italians.

They tell of one cafe proprietor who was bemoaning his lot—the long hours, the tribute he had to pay to keep open and he wound up with: "But thank heavens I don't have to drink my own liquor."

Countless stories have been related of the last days of John M. Siddall, the magazine editor, whose bravery in death was an epic. Doomed to die, he elected to keep on working to the end. One of his friends was seated with him on the piazza of his home the day before Mr. Siddall became unconscious. The friend departed for a moment into the house. Mr. Siddall called out: "Bring me a wrap when you come out!" A breeze had sprung up and Mr. Siddall said, with a quizzical smile when the wrap was brought to him: "What do you want me to do, get sick?"

Doc Koko's KOLUM

Unseen

(From The London Mercury)
The boy-faced baby others were at play;

The kingfisher had hidden his blaze of blue;

Hunching his back, a weasel went his way;

I knew the wren was sleeping, and I knew

A bat unfurled his west-winged sails and sped;

A harvest mouse swarmed up an ear of corn;

A snouted shrew-mouse in an owl's back hid,

A bird was killed, another bird was born.

Without a sign or sound these things were done

Beneath the sunset whilst I waited there;

But had I seen them, starkly in the sun

The sight could not have made me more aware.

GEORGE DEARNE.

The Cockroach Cure
Mr. Harry L. Foster, in "The Adventures of a 'Tropical Tramp,'" tells this amusing story:

"At La Merced tonight you must look out for the cockroaches," a Peruvian waiter said to me. "It would be well, senior, to ask the hotel proprietor for a frog to keep in your room."

"A frog?" I demanded.

"Yes, senior, a frog to kill the cockroaches. Make the proprietor give you a good frog—one with good, springy muscles—one that can jump for them. And when the frog has killed all the cockroaches, senior, ask the proprietor for a snake."

"A snake?"

"Yes, senior, a snake, to eat the frog. Then, senior, you climb out of bed and kill the snake, and there are no more cockroaches left to disturb you."

A Problem
Squire's Daughter (after reading letter from cottager's son): "And what will you do with the striped kimono your son says he's sending home?"

Rustle Mother: "You may well ask, nassie. I suppose I'll have to put it in one of the pigsties; but what I'm going to feed it on, goodness only knows."—London Punch.

Try This
Chase wild bullfrogs for three miles and gather up the hops. To them add ten gallons of tan bark, half a pint of shellac and one bar of home-made soap.

Boil thirty-six hours, then strain through an I. W. W. sock to keep it from working. Add one grasshopper to each pint to give it a kick. Pour a little into the kitchen sink. If it takes the emmet off it is ready for bottling.—Dry Goods Economist.

Peace and quiet may still be found in the dictionary.
